HILLINGDON

INTRODUCTION

H4All are delighted to share our Winter Wellness Directory 2024 with you and trust you will find it useful.

We are profoundly aware that this information is more necessary than ever this year, with the cost-of-living crisis impacting the majority of households. London is the debt capital of the UK. According to the Money & Pensions Service, a staggering 27% of Londoners are in need of debt advice. Until recently, the most common form of debt was rent arrears, but CAB (Citizens Advice Bureaux) research has revealed that, in the last couple of years, this has been overtaken by energy debt.

A recent poll by the GLA (Greater London Authority) found some worrying statistics:

- 30% of Londoners are 'just about managing'
- 20% of Londoners are 'financially struggling'
- 20% of lower income Londoners have gone without food or essential items or relied on external support in the last six months.

From our broad range of work across the borough, we know that Hillingdon residents are reflected in these figures. This directory aims to give you a comprehensive guide to help you navigate these challenges and stay well. We will keep the document regularly updated. On behalf of the entire H4All team, we wish you a very healthy and safe winter season.

*This advice booklet is designed to provide you with helpful advice and tips on how to manage your finances by giving you ideas on how to reduce your outgoings and should you need to, deal with debt.

The information has been sourced through reliable sources as a guide only, it is not definitive and you may find additional advice through CAB or the internet.

What is it?

Extra info

If you do not get any of the above benefits, or if you live abroad, you may need to make a claim.

If you've received a Winter Fuel Payment before, you do not need to claim again unless you have deferred your State Pension or moved abroad.

The deadline for you to make a claim for winter 2023 to 2024 is 31 March 2024.

Check your account in November and December to make sure you have been paid.

If you do not get your payment, contact the Winter Fuel Payment Centre on 0800 731 0160.

GOVERNMENT SCHEMES AND PAYMENTS

Universal Credit migration

You need to move to Universal Credit if you've received a Migration Notice, as one or more of your benefits will be ending soon.

What is it?

Universal Credit is replacing the following six benefits in the UK:

- Working Tax Credit
- Child Tax Credit
- Income-based Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA)
- Income Support
- Income-related Employment and Support Allowance (ESA)
- Housing Benefit (renting)

When does it start

The rollout started with those households in receipt of Tax Credits from October 16. Migration Notice letters will be issued from the DWP explaining exactly what people need to do.

What to do

Those who receive the letter will need to make their claim for Universal Credit within three months from the date of their letter. If they don't their tax credits will end. Once the application is made, claimants should receive their first payment after five weeks and will then receive payments twice a month from then onwards.

Extra info

Anyone transitioning over to Universal Credit will have their benefit entitlement protected through "Transitional Protection". This means that people with no change in their circumstances will not have a reduced entitlement at the point when they move over.

Be aware that anyone moving to Universal Credit ahead of receiving their migration notice letter will not be eligible to receive the transitional protection. The majority of people should be moved over by 2024/2025 - except for those who get ESA and do not get Tax Credits, where the deadline has been pushed back to 2028.

Broadband when on Benefits or Universal Credit

Broadband for Less

Broadband is a modern day essential, but it can be difficult to find the money to pay for it if you're on benefits or Universal Credit.

The cost of living crisis has made things even harder, and nearly everyone is looking at ways to lower their bills. Thankfully, there are a few things you can do to stay connected without spending a fortune.

BT

BT Home Essentials

BT Home Essentials is a low-cost broadband and phone plan for people on certain benefits. At a heavily discounted price of £15 a month, BT says you'll see average speeds up to 67Mb.

Benefits

- Free installation – you just need to pay for the delivery of the router
- No data caps or download limits
- Guaranteed advertised speeds or get £20 back
- Free BT Smart Hub
- Even if you come off benefits, you will still only pay £15 per month (until your contract term is up)

Eligibility criteria

To qualify, you'll need to be receiving one of the following benefits:

- Universal Credit (all claimants)
- Income Support
- Jobseeker's Allowance (eligibility rules apply)
- Employment and Support Allowance (eligibility rules apply)
- Pension credit (guarantee credit)

You'll need to provide your National Insurance number when you order, so that they can check if you're eligible.

GOVERNMENT SCHEMES AND PAYMENTS

Broadband when on Benefits or Universal Credit

Virgin Media Essentials

Virgin offers Broadband for low-income homes for £15 a month. Essential Broadband is a 30-day rolling contract, meaning you're not locked down and can leave at any time. It only advertises an average download speed of 15Mbps, but promises it won't slow you down at peak times.

Hyperoptic Fair Fibre

If you're on benefits, Hyperoptic offers significant discounts on their broadband packages. You won't be locked down to a lengthy contract and prices start from £15 a month.

NOW Broadband Basics

If you are currently receiving Universal Credit or Pension Credit, you get NOW Fab Fibre Membership for £20 a month, with an average download speed of 36Mbps. You can also get Pay As You Use calls plan included at no extra cost. So, you only pay for the calls you make, with no monthly charge.

ALTERNATIVES TO HOME BROADBAND

Use your mobile

If you have a mobile phone contract with unlimited data, or a big data limit, you could use your smartphone to access the internet, rather than taking out a home broadband contract.

Your local library

Not only will your local library have computers you can use with free internet access, they normally have free WiFi, which you can connect to with your own devices.

Free public WiFi spots

Free WiFi hotspots exist all over the country: in cafes, on trains and around shopping centres. You can usually find somewhere to access free internet while you're out and about.

Some cities like London and Manchester provide public, citywide Wi-Fi, which is a great option if you live in the area.

Tether to your phone

You don't have to pay for both a home broadband and phone deal. If your signal is strong enough, you could rely on mobile internet to do everything. You could turn your phone into a portable hotspot then tether your devices to it. You'll have to be careful not to go over your mobile data allowance - look out for cheap SIM only deals with a high data cap.

However, not all mobile phone contracts will allow tethering.

When sorting out a payment plan, you can ask for a review of your payments and debt repayments, payment break reductions, and more time to pay.

New data from British Gas shows that 23% of our energy usage comes from 'vampire devices' – these are gadgets that use up a significant amount of energy while they're on standby.

The average annual electricity bill is around £474, and £110 of this could be saved by switching off devices like TVs, computers and games consoles at the plug.

The cost of running a shower for five minutes from October will be between 30.3p and 45.5p

An overhead light will set you back between 2.08p and 5.2p per hour

An electric heater will cost you £1.30 per hour

HOUSEHOLD BILLS AND APPLIANCES

Budgeting tips

With the average energy bills consistently rising, many households have been making changes in a bid to cut costs.

Consider buying a slow cooker or air fryer

Buying an air fryer or a slow cooker can be more economic as an alternative to using the oven. These appliances have become more popular due to their energy efficiency - but how much money will they actually save compared to more conventional cooking methods?

Slow cooker

A slow cooker will use about the same amount of energy as a lightbulb even if you leave it on all day, helping to cut energy costs compared to an oven or hob. On average, slow cookers use around 1.2kW over the course of eight hours, working out at just 5p per hour.

VS

Air fryer

Air fryers, meanwhile, are more energy-efficient than most ovens due to the fact that they cook food much faster. The average air fryer wattage is 1kW, so using it for ten minutes would cost around 5p - working out at 30p per hour.

Microwave

While microwaves may not be as versatile as other cooking methods, they do have their uses for the likes of reheating and defrosting food. They also work out cheaper per hour than air fryers - an average 700w microwave will cost about 1.98p when used for five minutes, or 23.8p over the course of an hour.

Budgeting tips

Switch to a water meter

Switch to a water meter if you are a low water user.

It is easy to forget about your water bill as it is not possible to switch suppliers. However, many people could save money by switching to a water meter; it's been calculated that moving to a meter saves the average user £100 a year.

BEWARE

Some heavy users of water will pay more if they use a meter, so you should always check out the Consumer Council For Water calculator to see whether it is worth you switching.

www.ccw.org.uk/save-money-and-water/water-meter-calculator/

Mobile phone contracts

Everyone's mobile phone usage is different, so matching your contract with the way you use your phone will help to ensure that you do not overpay.

Website Billmonitor can analyse your online bills to suggest the best tariff for you.

For more help with budget planning, visit page 15 for different organisations that can help with this.

Subscriptions

If you're looking to save extra, a common recommendation is to review and cancel some of your subscriptions if they're becoming expensive or you don't use them regularly.

Asda has announced a range of new 'winter warmer' initiatives to support customers and community groups struggling with the cost-of-living crisis.

The supermarket is offering those aged 60 and over the chance to enjoy soup, a roll and unlimited teas and coffees for just £1 in any of its 205 cafes all day and every day until end of February 2024. The initiative will run alongside the current 'Kids eat for £1' offer which continues to be hugely popular, with more than 557,000 meals served since the launch in late June.

Those wanting to take advantage will need to 'ask for Henry' when at a Morrisons cafe. Each person will then be given one jacket potato covered with Heinz Banz, alongside a salad. Heinz and Morrisons hope the initiative will help families in need of extra support.

TAKING CARE OF YOU

The importance of self-care

Self-care is about looking after your own health and making the right choices about where to go for help and advice when you need it.

Talk to your pharmacist

Many common illnesses and injuries can be treated at home – talk to your pharmacist about remedies and advice on what to do.

Medical cabinet

Keep a well-stocked medical cabinet. This could include: pain killers, anti-diarrhoeal medicine, rehydration mixture, indigestion remedies, cold and flu remedies, first aid kit with bandages, plasters, antiseptic wipes and cream, eyewash, medical tape, sterile dressing and thermometer.

Find more advice about what to keep in your medicine cabinet on the NHS website.

Vitamin D

Shorter days, darker nights and more time indoors can make us feel low. The lack of sunlight also means that many of us aren't getting the right amount of Vitamin D, which can also contribute to low mood. It's recommended that we all consider taking a 10 microgram Vitamin D supplement in autumn and winter. This is even more important if you don't go outside very much or if you cover most of your skin.

Allergies

There are plenty of indoor allergens that can trigger sneezing, watery eyes, and runny noses in the winter – including pets, cockroach droppings, dust mites, and mould. Additionally, you may be more likely to be exposed to season-specific allergens, like fireplaces, pine trees and wreaths.

Some things you can do to lessen the number of winter allergens you're around on a day-to-day basis include using a humidifier to reduce dryness in your home or office, vacuuming dust regularly, and bathing pets often to minimise dander.

TAKING CARE OF YOU

Vaccinations

Flu Jab

You can get the free NHS flu jab if you're over 50 or have certain long-term conditions, such as heart disease. The flu jab is even more important this winter, with coronavirus still circulating, as it will help you avoid getting both illnesses at once.

Where can you get it?

You can have the NHS flu vaccine at:

- Your GP surgery
- A pharmacy offering the service – if you're aged 18 or over
- Some maternity services if you're pregnant

Eligibility Criteria

The flu vaccine is given free on the NHS to adults who:

- Are 50 and over (including those who will be 50 by 31 March 2023)
- Have certain health conditions
- Are pregnant
- Are in long-stay residential care
- Receive a carer's allowance, or are the main carer for an older or disabled person who may be at risk if you get sick
- Live with someone who is more likely to get a severe infection due to a weakened immune system, such as someone living with HIV, someone who has had a transplant, or is having certain treatments for cancer, lupus or rheumatoid arthritis

COVID-19 booster

There are 2 booster doses of the coronavirus (COVID-19) vaccine you may be able to get:

- A 1st booster for everyone aged 16 and over, and some children aged 12 to 15, once they have completed their primary COVID-19 vaccination course
- A seasonal booster (autumn booster) for some people, including those aged 65 years or over, those at higher risk or who are pregnant, and frontline health and social care workers.

If you have not had a booster dose yet, you're still eligible and can book anytime.

WHEN TO SEEK MEDICAL HELP

Breaking down the services

Visiting the GP

If your GP surgery believes you need urgent treatment, a GP (not always your regular GP) will do their best to see you as soon as possible.

Calling 111

It is a free call from your mobile or landline and it's a 24 hour service, open 365 days a year.

Call NHS 111 if:

- You think you need to go to A&E or need another NHS urgent care service
- You don't know who to call or you don't have a GP to call
- You need health information or advice about what to do next
- You have an emergency or crisis about your mental health.

Urgent Care Centre

The Urgent Care Centre (UCC) provides a walk-in service for patients attending the Accident & Emergency (A&E) department with non-life threatening minor illnesses and injuries that require immediate attention.

The Urgent Care Centre is open for you 24 hours a day 365 days a year.

GP services

GPs have access to your medical records giving them a better picture of your ongoing needs.

They also provide diagnosis, treatment and care for long-term conditions such as asthma, diabetes and heart disease as well as:

- Medical tests and prescriptions

TIPS FOR YOUR MENTAL WELLBEING

NHS Top Tips

There are many people of all ages living with mental health problems and if you or someone you care about is struggling, try taking at least one of the NHS five steps to wellbeing to improve your mental health:

Connect with other people

Good relationships are important for your mental wellbeing. They can help you to build a sense of belonging, provide an opportunity to share positive experiences and give emotional support.

Be physically active

Keeping active is a great way to improve your mental wellbeing, but this doesn't mean you have to go to the gym. Take a walk, have a kickabout in the garden or just dance around the living room to your favourite music.

Learn new skills

Research shows that learning new skills can also improve your mental wellbeing, boosting your self-confidence and giving you a sense of purpose.

Give to others

Acts of giving and kindness can help improve your mental wellbeing by creating positive feelings and helping you connect with other people.

Pay attention to the present moment

Take some time to be more aware of the present moment, including your thoughts and feelings, your body and the world around you. It can positively change the way you feel about life and how you approach challenges.

S.A.D - WHAT IS IT?

Seasonal Affective Disorder

What is it?

Seasonal affective disorder (SAD) is a type of depression that comes and goes in a seasonal pattern.

SAD is sometimes known as "winter depression" because the symptoms are usually more apparent and more severe during the winter.

Some people with SAD may have symptoms during the summer and feel better during the winter.

Symptoms

- A persistent low mood
- A loss of pleasure or interest in normal everyday activities
- Irritability
- Feelings of despair, guilt and worthlessness
- Feeling lethargic (lacking in energy) and sleepy during the day
- Sleeping for longer than normal and finding it hard to get up in the morning
- Craving carbohydrates and gaining weight
- Difficulty concentrating
- Decreased sex drive

For some people, these symptoms can be severe and have a significant impact on their day-to-day activities.

MINDFULNESS

What is it?

Mindfulness involves paying attention to what is going on inside and outside ourselves, moment by moment.

It's easy to stop noticing the world around us. It's also easy to lose touch with the way our bodies are feeling and to end up living "in our heads" – caught up in our thoughts without stopping to notice how those thoughts are driving our emotions and behaviour.

An important part of mindfulness is reconnecting with our bodies and the sensations they experience. This means paying attention to the sights, sounds, smells and tastes of the present moment. That might be something as simple as the feel of a banister as we walk upstairs.

Another important part of mindfulness is an awareness of our thoughts and feelings as they happen moment to moment.

SAVING ON THE FOOD SHOPPING

Tips for cheap and long-lasting shops

Making good use of food you've bought and reducing food waste is a great way to save money.

1. Bulk buying

Bulk buying is the act of purchasing items in large quantities. It can be a great way to save money, but it can also lead us to falling into a trap of buying things we don't need, just because it's great value for money!

2. Own brands

Supermarkets sometimes produce their own version of popular items, such as tomato ketchup. These own brand items are typically much cheaper than named brands.

A 460g bottle of named brand ketchup is £2.80, compared to the same size own brand ketchup at 55p.

3. Batch cooking

Where you cook a week or a month's worth of food in one day and place the rest in the fridge or freezer so you can use it later.

You are able to save money as you will have all meals for the week ready so you won't have to buy lunch or dinner for the night.

4. Grow your own

Growing your own fruit and veg can be a fun family activity and a great way to reduce costs on your shopping bill. You are able to see and know exactly what goes onto your fresh produce, unlike the produce in stores where you don't know what pesticides they are being sprayed with.

SAVING ON THE FOOD SHOPPING

Tips for cheap and long-lasting shops

5. Organise fridge

Make sure that your fridge is organised so you can open it up and clearly see what you have before it goes bad.

6. Make use of freezer

Your freezer is your best friend when it comes to saving money as you can freeze leftovers and keep them for longer.

7. Reduced items

Try shopping early or late for the reduced use-by yellow label stickers, which you can freeze safely straight away. (Supermarkets are beginning to phase out best before/use-by dates).

8. Too good to go

Check the Too Good to Go App. There are often bargains to be had toward's the end of the day, although some aren't the healthiest options and you must be able to collect your order.

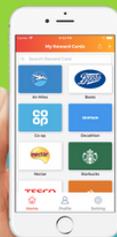

9. Get a loyalty card

Many supermarkets offer a loyalty card. You gain points by spending money at the supermarket. You can then redeem these points at the tills.

Some supermarkets have apps, the app will display the deals of the week and which food items you can get discounted by using your rewards card.

Make sure you check the app before you go shopping.
