

Do you provide care or support for someone aged 65+ years who has multiple long-term physical health problems?

Do these long-term health problems sometimes affect their mood?

If so, we would like your help with our research

Multi-Morbidity in Older Adults (MODS) is a programme of research looking at developing a support package to help people aged 65+ years with multiple long-term physical health problems manage their mood.

For more information or to ask any questions about the research please contact the research team on:

01904 321828
Liz.littlewood@york.ac.uk

07469 566941
Eloise.ryde@nhs.net

We would very much value your views on this support package, through taking part in a discussion with a researcher. Your views will directly influence the development of the support package.