INSIDE THIS ISSUE

Welcome!

We've all got a little skip in our step here at Age UK Barnet. The sun's been shining, it feels like spring is here (well, for a while it did!) and from 12 April we'll be able to go shopping again, have our hair done and sit outside a pub or restaurant for a bite to eat.

Confused about how the restrictions will be lifted over the coming months? For a handy reminder, turn to page 5.

As well as our usual easy recipes, puzzles and crafts, we've got a fascinating piece on whether we can trust our memories. Plus find out what your finger length says about you on page 7.

Please let us know what you think about Pigeon Post by filling out our questionnaire on page 3. We have been able to publish our magazine thanks to a grant from The London Community Foundation and we need to let them know how we've got on.

Enjoy the issue and see you next month!

HEALTHY DESSERTS

Desserts are not only delicious as after-dinner treats, says our cookery volunteer Kato, they can also help us consume more of the nutrients that we might otherwise struggle to incorporate into our daily diet. ‘Nuts, seeds and plant oils provide fats for healthy hearts and brains, and fruits are full of plant chemicals that can help to fight inflammation,’ says Kato. Here are some ideas for quick-fix nutritious desserts.

Tahini delight For two servings: in a food processor, blend 1 large ripe banana, 1 tbsp tahini, 2 tbsp milk, and 1 tsp vanilla extract. Put in a bowl in the fridge with a tablespoon of chia seeds until the seeds are swollen (about one hour).

Blueberry and oat pancakes For 9 pancakes: In a food processor, blend 2 medium ripe bananas, 2 medium eggs, ½ cup milk, 1 tsp vanilla extract, 1.5 cups rolled oats, ½ tsp cinnamon. When blended, add a cup of frozen or fresh blueberries to the batter. Heat rapeseed or coconut oil in a pan, and fill with batter. Cook each pancake on medium to low heat for 2-4 minutes on each side.

Date and chia treats For 8 servings: In a food processor, blend 250 g soft dates (soak dry dates in boiling water for 5 minutes to soften), 2/3 cup of chia seeds, ½ cup almonds, 3 tbsp cocoa powder, and 1 tbsp coconut or rapeseed oil. Blend until all the ingredients have come together in a paste, add more oil if the mixture is too dry. Roll into serving size balls and refrigerate for up to 3 days. Optionally, add 2 tbsp of coconut flakes to a plastic bag, and shake the date balls in the bag to coat.

Baked pears For 4 servings: Halve four large ripe pears. Scoop out pips. In a bowl, combine 1 cup rolled oats, ½ cup chopped almonds, 1 tbsp cinnamon, 3 tbsp brown sugar. Rub in ½ cup of rapeseed or sunflower oil. Fill the centre of the pears with the crumble, and bake at 200°C for 40 minutes. Serve with Greek yogurt.

Roasted apricots For 2 servings: Add to a small baking tray the juice and peel of 1 lime, ½ orange, and 3 lightly crushed cardamom pods. Stone and quarter 4 apricots and dust with 1 tsp of brown sugar. Bake at 200°C for 15-20 minutes. Toast and chop 2 tbsp pistachio nuts and scatter over apricots. Serve with Greek yoghurt. Try this method with other stone fruits such as nectarines, plums or peaches.

THE JOYS OF VOLUNTEERING

Spending time volunteering creates bonds with fellow volunteers and the people you are supporting in the organisation, says Barnet therapist Ruth Dines. ‘The social bonds created during volunteering contribute directly to feelings of belonging,’ says Ruth. ‘For many volunteers, the benefits are social – it’s a way of getting involved in your local community and the perfect way to meet like-minded friends.’ What’s more, volunteering is good for your health - according to the British Heart Foundation, social support helps recovery following a heart attack or other heart event.

WE NEED YOUR FEEDBACK

Pigeon Post has been “winging” it’s way to you for nearly six months now and we would REALLY like to know what you think about it.

The newsletter has been funded by The London Community Foundation and it was intended to do a number of things. Firstly, to entertain and stimulate you during the long lockdown months. Secondly, to keep people who do not use computers to stay informed about local services and support particularly during the Covid crisis. We also aimed to develop a “sense of connection” during the periods when it has been impossible to meet in person.

We now need to know if we have achieved our aims and if receiving the Pigeon Post has been useful or beneficial to you.

We'd be very grateful if you could complete and return (or phone us) the questions below.

Please call Fiona on 0208 629 0269 or 07799519314. Leave a message and a contact number and someone will get back to you. Or post to ‘Pigeon Post’ Age UK Barnet, Ann Owens Centre, Oak Lane, East Finchley N2 8LT

1.	Have you enjoyed receiving Pigeon Post YES / NO
2.	What have you particularly liked - i.e. interviews, information about services etc?
3.	Have you felt informed and up to date about what services are available in Barnet?
4.	Have you used any of the services mentioned in Pigeon Post?
5.	Has Pigeon Post helped you feel “connected” or less isolated during lock down?
6.	Would you like to continue to receive Pigeon Post? (subject to continued funding?) YES / NO

OVER TO YOU!

YOUR LIVES, YOUR STORIES!

Maybe you've got a cleaning tip, recipe idea, a useful piece of advice or a funny story? Whatever you want to get off your chest, put it to paper and send it to us at Age UK Barnet Letters Page, Ann Owens Centre, Oak Lane, East Finchley N2 8LT. Or call Teresa on 07502 989 403.

We will try to address any issues raised in future editions and will print a selection of the letters we receive.

thank you ♥

*Dear Pigeon Post,
I just wanted to say a very big 'Thank You' to everyone involved in producing this wonderful little magazine.*

I look forward to receiving it every month and it really brightens my day! How you manage to fit in so many interesting articles amazes me - there's something for everyone on each page!

I hope other readers agree with me!

*Yvonne
one happy reader from Barnet*

*Dear Sir/Madam,
I do like reading your Pigeon Post.
There is so much knitting - I am going to try the bobble hats as they look nice and easy to knit.
I also like the nice cooking dishes which I must try.
Long may it last!
Love Cathy*

READER TIPS

Don't throw out the water you boil your eggs in. This water contains tons of calcium that your plants will love. Just let the water cool and pour it on your plants

DID YOU KNOW?

You can actually WEAR milk!! (yes, real milk from cows) can be turned into a fibre which in turn can be made into beautiful clothing!

READER TIPS

When dusting your television or venetian blinds, use a soft cloth that has been dampened with fabric softener - this will reduce the static that attracts dust.

PET PAL OF THE MONTH

Each month, we celebrate one of your pets. Just let us know what your pet means to you by phoning Teresa on 07502 989 403 or writing to Pet Pal of the month, Age UK Barnet, Ann Owens Centre, Oak Lane N2 1LT... If you haven't got a photo, we can arrange for a member of our team to take a doorstep

This month's Pet Pal is Duke, a Staffordshire bull terrier owned by Linda from Barnet who wins the prize for most affectionate pet.

'He's so loving! He thinks he's a lap dog, and just lays on my lap, but he's so big that he has to wrap himself around me and cuddle. He also has a habit of sleeping on the back of my neck!!'

OVER TO YOU!

YOUR LIVES, YOUR STORIES!

Each month our reporter Linda Jackson has a lovely chat with one of you readers and shares your stories with the rest of us. This month Linda speaks to Leonard from High Barnet.

Leonard is an articulate and forthcoming gentleman of 92. He has lived in his present flat for 14 years, when he came to Barnet to be near his children.

Early last year he decided he needed more care, but primarily someone to talk to, so he arranged for a carer to come in a few days a week, and he is very happy with the arrangement. In the first two lockdowns he has missed not seeing his family. What he misses most of all is not cuddling his three great grandchildren.

Leonard has lived through interesting times, and one gets the impression that with his open-minded view of life he has been able to take advantage of opportunities that interested him. He comes from a well-established Jewish family, and started work in the clothing trade writing articles for technical trade magazines. His work life was turned around with the coming of computers, when he was asked to introduce computerisation into his firm. He later went on to get a job in a computer centre which he very much enjoyed. He is quite computer literate, and now uses a computer, tablet and Alexa. He spends a lot of his time exploring what his computer has to offer - for example he makes cards, produces posters, and listens to classical music. He has written stories about his life and experiences about being brought up in a Jewish family, and being evacuated to the countryside, which he says he enjoyed. All these stories are on his computer.

Unfortunately, his hearing, eyesight and mobility are diminishing, but before lockdown, he had been driving to a local arboretum, sitting among the trees and breathing fresh air for a while.

Asked whether he missed anything during lockdown apart from being with his family, he said "No, I have everything I need, and at my age I can't ask for anything more". I suspect that Leonard's own interests and attitude to life underpin this statement.

Has something extraordinary happened to you? Maybe you had an unusual career? Whatever your story, please get in touch if you'd like Linda to share it with us. Please phone Teresa on 07502 989 403.

QUICK CHEESE & ONION TART

Ingredients

400g shallots, peeled.
1 tablespoon Dijon mustard
1 x 320g ready-rolled puff pastry sheet
80g mature Cheddar, grated
A few sprigs of fresh thyme
Black pepper
Salad to serve

Method

1. Preheat the oven to 180°C (fan) or 200° C, gas 6. Cut each shallot into four slices lengthways.
2. Lay out the pastry on a roasting tray lined with baking paper and spread with the Dijon mustard, leaving a 2.5cm border around the edge. Arrange the flat shallot slices over the top, then scatter over the Cheddar, thyme and black pepper.
3. Cook for 30 minutes. Serve with a green salad alongside.

DEVI'S SPROUT CURRY!

Here is a little recipe from Devi, one of our readers. She promises that it tastes absolutely lovely and is so simple and easy to cook!

Ingredients

Small portion Brussel sprouts washed and chopped
Small chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon each of:- grated ginger, garlic, chilli, ground coriander, cumin, turmeric
4 tablespoons water
Pinch salt
Cooked chicken or fish

Method

Sautee the Brussel sprouts and onion then leave to one side.

On a low heat fry the chilli, ginger and garlic then add the coriander, cumin and turmeric.

Add sprouts and onions and mix together until all coated with the spices then add 2 tablespoons water and mix together.

Add the chicken or fish and a further 2 tablespoons of water if mixture looks a little dry but do not make mixture runny!

Continue to cook until the chicken or fish is heated through.

Serve with rice or boiled potatoes.

Neuroscientist Professor Catherine Loveday reflects on our memories and asks, 'Just how reliable are they?'

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR MEMORIES?

Have you ever looked at old diaries from your teenage years? Your memories of that time probably feel extremely vivid and important. Scientific research backs this up, consistently finding that adolescent memories are unusually powerful and easily accessed. 'This is hardly surprising given that the cusp of adulthood is such a crucial period in finding our identity, forming new relationships and making life-changing plans,' says Catherine. 'Rehearsing those memories helps us to feel grounded'

But do those memories tell us the truth or do they just tell us what we want to remember?

'We often create narrative for ourselves that only partly reflects reality - some aspects of human memory are very malleable,' says Catherine. 'When it comes to knowing where we live, or what colour a tomato is, we are pretty reliable - but when it comes to recollecting journeys we have taken or conversations we've had, our memories are far less accurate.'

Apart from anything else, these memories for experience - our autobiographical memories - can only ever be constructed from our viewpoint. And this may well differ from someone else's. You and a friend might remember an event completely differently, for instance. 'This is because how we experience a situation at the time and how we see this later are heavily influenced by what we know and how we feel,' says Catherine. 'Most importantly, we tend to let go of details that don't sit comfortably with our sense of who we are or who we want to be. And by the same token, we rehearse and embellish those parts of the experience that confirm our identity and support our life goals.'

So should we be worried that we are continually writing and re-writing our own history like this? 'On the contrary, psychologists have argued that this flexibility is an important part of being a happy human being,' says Catherine. 'The capacity to actively shape our narrative enables us to have a coherent and stable sense of identity.'

But it's good to acknowledge that all experience influences us, regardless of whether we have conscious access to it or not. 'And we may occasionally be forced to confront things that we had selectively written out of our story,' says Catherine. 'Similarly, we may come up against new evidence or testimony that prompts us to reframe memories that we have held for a long time. Sometimes this can be painful, other times it can actually be cathartic.'

WHAT YOUR FINGER LENGTH SAYS ABOUT YOU

The ratio of our second to fourth finger is a good proxy for the balance of oestrogen and testosterone that we were exposed to in the womb: the greater the length of the fourth (or ring) finger in relation to the second (or index) finger, the higher the proportion of prenatal testosterone. Although this sounds like a strange idea, scientists have linked this ratio to many traits:

'There is some evidence to support that the ratio can predict cognitive skills, career choice and even fertility,' says neuroscientist Catherine Loveday.

Women with ring fingers that are longer than their index fingers, typically a male trait, are twice as likely to have osteoarthritis in the knees, according to an Arthritis & Rheumatism study. Low oestrogen levels may be a factor.

The same finger feature has been linked to higher athletic ability and verbal aggression in both genders. In men, a longer ring finger is associated with having more children and better relationships with women, but a British Journal of Cancer study found a connection to a higher risk of prostate cancer.

Easter eggs

JS Fry of Bristol made the first chocolate egg in the UK in 1873. Decorated by hand to suit Victorian tastes, these eggs were made from dark chocolate and would have been grainy and bitter by today's standards. They weren't for everyone either – they were an expensive, luxury gift. Around the world, the likes of France and Germany had been making chocolate eggs for many years before the UK, but these eggs had been made from solid chocolate. However, they couldn't quite figure out how to mould the chocolate into a perfect egg shape and quickly abandoned the idea. Fry's had been the first to figure out how to use moulds and make hollow eggs. This had been achieved through the Fry family's innovations in making chocolate by mixing cocoa fat with cocoa powder and sugar. This made a smooth paste which could be poured into egg moulds. The earliest chocolate eggs were also designed with the well-known 'crocodile' design in order to hide any cracks or other imperfections.

For thousands of years and in many cultures, the egg has been a symbol of fertility and rebirth. It is said that the tradition of decorating boiled eggs at the beginning of spring actually has pagan roots. It was part of the celebration of the return of the Sun God during the Spring Equinox, some say it represents the fertility Goddess Eostre (Ostara in Greek), the egg representing the fertility of the ground after the lean winter days and the rebirth of the light.

In the early days of Mesopotamia, approximately 5,000 years ago, the eggs were associated with death and rebirth and also with power and kingship. Hence, after being decorated in gold or silver, it was custom to place an ostrich egg by the Egyptian leader's grave. The tradition of Easter eggs first started among the early Orthodox Christians who saw the egg as the symbol of Jesus Christ's resurrection. Indeed, the shell of the egg represented Jesus' tomb and the cracking of this shell symbolised his resurrection. According to ancient custom, the egg would have been dyed in red as the symbol of Christ's blood that he shed on the cross.

The traditional Easter egg hunt apparently started in Germany with Martin Luther, the Protestant Christian Reformer, who, each Easter, held an egg hunt and introduced the legend of the Easter Bunny to young children. This tradition was only introduced to England during the Victorian era.

Stencilled CD/DVD Coasters

What you will need

- 4 recycled CDs or DVDs
- Sandpaper
- Strong glue
- Felt in colours that match your CD colours (maroon, orange, ivory, dark green)
- Scissors
- Matte Varnish
- Floral Stencil or draw freehand if preferred

Acrylic paint colours used are

- Buttermilk
- Tangelo Orange
- Alizarin Crimson
- Leaf Green
- White Wash

Instructions

1. Sand the shiny side of the CD/DVD's enough to rough them up and remove the coating.
2. Paint each CD a different colour. Repeat for two more coats
3. Stencil on the design using the White Wash, touch up with a fine line brush if needed. Or, if doing freehand, just paint straight on.
4. Finish with two coats of varnish.
5. Cut felt into circles about 1/4" smaller in diameter of the CD.
6. Use strong glue to attach the felt circles to the back of the CDs.

Do you have any tips for a small garden? Joan from Hendon

Use height. Walls, garages, the side of a fence—it's all good space. Use creepers like star jasmine and tremendous trailers, such as the vibrantly coloured McDaniel's Cushion, to adorn high spaces. Get blooms up on high with containers like hanging baskets of trailing geraniums, window boxes and exquisite wall mangers.

Pave diagonally Paving laid squarely can make your garden look smaller than it is and with a simple trick of the eye, you can increase the visual size if your garden. Lay slabs on the point so they are in a diamond shape to give the optical illusion of a bigger garden,

Vibrant Chairs The brighter, the better is the way to go to bring your space to life.

Brightly coloured plants and features can make a small garden appear lighter and bigger. As a general rule, hot colours, like reds and dark yellows make a space feel more intimate. Cool colours like light-purples, whites and blues recede the field of vision, making a small space feel larger.

Use containers Pots are great for small trees or flowering bedding plants, and you can change them and move them around easily. This is especially impactful in a small space, as you can revamp your garden design at the drop of a hat. Think about fruit and veg too. Tomatoes, beans, lettuce, peppers, chillies, radishes and even carrots can all be grown in pots or containers.

Attract wildlife Bird boxes, feeding stations, roosting pouches and insect hotels will help bring your garden to life with exciting bird and insect activity. Garden nature can thrive even in the smallest gardens, so make space for wildlife in your garden design. Attract more wildlife by planting their favourite flowers, which will please bees and butterflies and give you lots of colour. It will soon be a hive of activity and great fun for kids!

READER TIPS

Make your own window cleaner. Mix 1/2 cup white vinegar with 1/4 cup rubbing alcohol (70% concentration) and 2 cups water and dispense into an empty spray bottle. To clean your windows, wait for a cool, cloudy day and squirt the solution onto the glass, wiping with a clean microfiber cloth to avoid streaking.

RELIGIOUS FESTIVALS THIS MONTH

13 April (Tue) VAISAKHI/BAISAKHI – Sikh - In 1699, on Vaisakhi, the tenth Guru, Gobind Singh, founded the Order of the Khalsa. Five men (Five Beloved Ones), offered their lives when the Guru asked for volunteers. The 'Five Ks', the outward signs of Sikhism, were made obligatory and Sikh men took the name 'Singh' (lion) and women 'Kaur' (princess). The initiation ceremony, amrit, was introduced.

13 April (Tues) to 12 May (Wednesday) RAMADAN Muslim - Ramadan is the 9th month of the Islamic Calendar, when the Prophet received the first revelation of verses of the Qur'an. It is the holiest month for Muslims, and they dedicate themselves to spiritual renewal, prayer and intensive devotional reading of the Qur'an. During the month of Ramadan Muslims are required to fast from daybreak until after sunset.

15 April (Thur) YOM HA'ATZMA'UT Jewish - Israeli Independence Day, commemorating the declaration of independence of Israel in 1948.

21 April (Wed) RAMA NAVAMI Hindu - The birthday of Rama, the seventh avatar of Vishnu, is celebrated at noon in the aarti ceremony, performed in front of a doll or of a picture depicting Rama swinging in a cradle.

23 April (Fri) ST GEORGE'S DAY - St George is the patron saint of England. He lived and died in the Middle East, but his popularity grew after the Crusades, when his red cross on a white background became the symbol of the English Crusaders.

26/27 April (Mon/Tue) HANUMAN JAYANTI Hindu - This Hindu festival recalls the birth of Lord Rama's supreme devotee, the monkey-headed Hanuman, whose feats figure in the Ramayana epic. Hanuman's birth is celebrated at sunrise on the full-moon day of the lunar month of Chaitra.

30 April (Fri) LAG B'OMER Jewish - The Omer lasts 49 days from Pesach to Shavuot. A time of sadness, it is relieved on the 33rd day. It recalls the end of a plague in Roman times. Weddings often take place on this day, since they are not usually permitted during the rest of the Omer period.
