

Free training on how to have discussions about the Covid-19 vaccine

Islington Council is providing free short training sessions online to community organisations to support the ongoing Covid-19 vaccine programme.

The sessions will be facilitated by experienced trainers from Social Marketing Gateway, and will be an interactive chance to meet with others, ask questions and provide you with the tools and confidence to support discussions about the Covid-19 vaccine with community members.

In this session you will:

- Gain an understanding of some of the reasons for vaccine hesitancy
- Be given communication techniques to help have discussions about the vaccine with your community
- Find out where to direct people to trusted resources on the Covid-19 vaccine.
