Context

Age UK Wandsworth is a local, independent charity that works to promote the wellbeing of all older people in the London Borough of Wandsworth. We offer a variety of services with the goal of helping older people to #AgeWellinWandsworth. Our charity is consistently growing, so we are creating this new role to support our CEO with social media, marketing and organising events.

The role will suit someone who is calm, mature, professional, organised and creative and will be comfortable working directly with a creative and curious CEO committed to transforming the charity's online presence.

Responsibilities:

1. Take full responsibility for developing social media on all the charity's channels. Our CEO has made a good start but does not have the capacity to develop our brand any further, so you will need to have excellent social media skills to embrace this exciting opportunity to take over from her and develop this area to its full potential.
2. Create relevant content for social media, website and marketing collateral that is engaging and attracts a variety of stakeholders (e.g. clients, volunteers, donors, funders, corporates) to the charity. The variety of services that we offer means that we have an enormous wealth of content opportunities at our fingertips, so we need someone who enjoys filming, editing and online engagement.
3. Ensure that the website is always up to date and provides accurate and interesting information to a variety of stakeholders. You will, therefore, need to be confident working at the back end of a website, as well as using SEO. Our service coordinators will give you content about their services and you will take responsibility for developing our News page so that it really showcases the charity's expertise, thought leadership, and our work across the borough.
4. Develop email campaigns so they reflect our charity's excellent work and wide array of offerings in an attractive, informative newsletters, moving from a monthly (current situation) to a weekly organisation mailout (by July 2026 latest). Your grammar and punctuation will be outstanding, and your engaging, well-written copy will drive clicks, conversions and donations.
5. Collect, monitor, analyse and report on data from social media, website, newsletters and any other campaigns to help us improve and develop. You will be confident preparing monthly reports that highlight figures, trends, successes and development needs and presenting these in a useful, easily digestible format to the CEO and to trustees in our Committee meetings.

6. Develop marketing collateral (we mainly use Canva), such as posters, brochures and impact reports, responding to requests for support from the team to promote services, news and events. Ensure other staff creating their own marketing collateral stay within our brand guidelines.
7. Plan and organise events, such as fundraising events, volunteering events and client events. Our CEO will give you an idea for an event, e.g. our annual pub quiz or an abseil, and then ask you to plan and execute it, so you will need to be highly organised, able to research options thoroughly, and confident liaising with vendors and suppliers to represent our charity. You will manage an event from beginning to end, providing timely updates, problem-solving as necessary (because we know no event ever comes off without a hitch), using your digital skills to attract attendees and interest, and reporting on successes and areas for developments afterwards.

Duties:

1. Take responsibility for developing own knowledge in all areas within the organisation and participate in any training opportunities available.
2. Suggest new and/or innovative campaigns and areas for improvement for the marketing of the charity.
3. Liaise with and work closely with other teams and members in our Head Office and at our Day Centre. It will be vital to learn and understand what we do every day to be successful in this role, so communicating with the team is essential.
4. Train other staff to create content to upskill colleagues as well as to help provide cover for your annual leave or when you cannot attend an event or activity.
5. Attend and carry out the administration for Committee meetings with trustees.
6. Understand and work within our Age UK brand partnership legal agreement but further establish Age UK Wandsworth's individual identity and voice ensuring that this is communicated both within the charity, across the borough of Wandsworth and beyond.
7. Work within all Age UK Wandsworth's policies and procedures, ensuring these are carried out in relation to the role. Data and confidentiality will be a key part of this role.
8. Attend staff meetings and actively participate and constructively respond to regular supervision, feedback and training.
9. Carry out any other administrative tasks that may be relevant to the role, as required to support the charity and the CEO.

Please note:

- This job description will be reviewed on a regular basis and may be subject to change, particularly as the needs of the charity and our services change.
- This role is subject to an enhanced DBS Check.
- There will be travel around Wandsworth, e.g. between sites, attending meetings, etc, so the postholder will need to be able to navigate public transport independently.
- There will be occasional travel within London.
- There is also an expectation that you will do the occasional evening or weekend work for the events you are organising.
